Overview

Women's Health Research (WHR) was established in 1998 to provide resources and expertise for the evaluation of pharmaceuticals and medical devices related to women's health. It is the only clinical research organization in Arizona focused exclusively on women's health.

For more than 20 years, he and his associates have made quality clinical research a priority in their gynecologic practice, OB/GYN Consultants, Ltd. They now bring that expertise to WHR, expanding their focus beyond traditional gynecologic conditions to more global women's health issues.

Clinical Research Experience

Women's Health Research affords sponsors exposure to clinical investigators with more than 20 years of clinical research experience, along with a staff of certified, professional study coordinators. Our strict adherence to study protocols is exemplary. Women's Health Research has a proven track record of rapid enrollment, treatment and patient compliance. Women's Health Research conducts Phase I-IV drug and device trials.

Facility Description

Women's Health Research is uniquely situated at the forefront of clinical research in one of the nation's fastest growing cities. Our central location is easily accessible to public transportation, freeways and the Phoenix International airport. We are located in a medical office complex adjacent to a 276-bed community hospital. Our research center consists of 6,000 sq. ft. of clinical space with an additional 3,000 sq. ft. of administrative space. Our clinical practice services over 10,000 patients. We have both an in-office surgical suite and a state-of-the-art ambulatory surgical facility on campus. Procedures available at our center include fetal monitoring, ultrasonography, saline infusion sonohysterography, colposcopy, endometrial biopsy, hysteroscopy, sterilization procedures and laparoscopy.
